

Question Continuum Routine

Inspired by Trevor MacKenzie's Inquiry Mindest - 2024

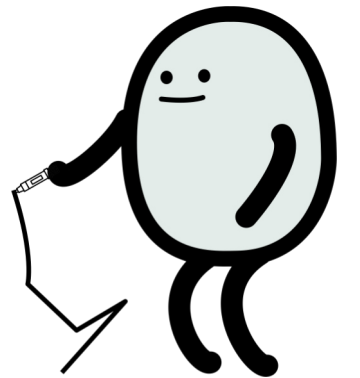

1. Provocation

Use memorable provocations in the form of video, quotes, audio, place or images to provoke your students into thinking!

2. Continuum

Create the question continuum on the biggest whiteboard you can find and draw a straight line right across the middle! Write closed questions at one end, open questions at the other end, and let the question continuum commence...

3. Place

Students review the various closed and open question indicators and then place their questions accordingly on the question continuum!

4. Observe

Walk along the continuum. Observe & share how questions have been written using indicators. Add any new indicators to your indicator list.

5. Rewrite

Students pair up, pick a question, and then rewrite it to be more open. You can be the question judge to see if the rewrites are ready to move up the continuum.
